Methodology:

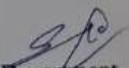

The workshop employed a blended learning approach, combining theoretical lectures with interactive hands-on sessions. Dr Arun Kumar from the Physics Department guided the participants through the concepts and provided practical demonstrations of the SIESTA software. Ample time was allocated for participants to work on individual and group exercises, allowing them to apply the learned concepts and troubleshoot issues under the guidance of the instructors.

December 26-31, 2024

A five-day workshop focused on "Nanomaterials Modelling Using DFT Codes" was successfully conducted by the Physics Department from 26th to 31st December, 2024. The workshop aimed to provide participants with a comprehensive understanding of how various nanomaterials are modeled and their properties estimated using Density Functional Theory (DFT) codes, with a specific focus on the SIESTA software package.

Participants (16):

The workshop witnessed enthusiastic participation from a total of sixteen students. This included fourteen M.Sc. students from parent institution and two external participants (joined online mode): Arti Kumari from the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Dhanbad and Hetvi Jadav from Sardar Vallabhbhai National Institute of Technology (SVNIT) Surat. The diverse group of participants brought varied academic backgrounds and a shared interest in computational materials science.

Workshop Content and Objectives:

The primary objective of the workshop was to equip the participants with the theoretical foundations of DFT and the practical skills necessary to model nanomaterials and predict their properties using the SIESTA code. The sessions covered a range of topics, including:

- Introduction to Nanomaterials: Basic concepts, classification, and significance of nanomaterials.
- Fundamentals of Density Functional Theory (DFT): Theoretical underpinnings of DFT, Hohenberg-Kohn theorems, and the Kohn-Sham approach.
- Exchange-Correlation Functionals: Understanding different approximations used in DFT calculations.
- Introduction to SIESTA: Architecture, input/output files, and basic functionalities of the SIESTA code.
- Setting up and Running SIESTA Calculations: Hands-on sessions on creating input files, defining simulation parameters, and executing calculations.
- Modeling Various Nanostructures: Practical exercises on modeling different types of nanomaterials such as nanoparticles, nanowires, and thin films.
- Property Estimation: Learning to extract and analyze various physical and chemical properties from SIESTA calculations, including electronic band structure, density of states, magnetic properties, and structural stability.
- Visualization and Analysis of Results: Introduction to software tools for visualizing and analyzing the output data from SIESTA calculations.

Field Visit to Chandpur

Organized by the Department of Zoology, Government College Bilaspur H.P.

The Department of Zoology, Government College Bilaspur, organized a field visit to Chandpur on 31/12/2024 with the objective for sensitizing villagers about Sericulture, Apiculture and Aquaculture and for providing practical exposure to students regarding livestock breeds and sustainable agricultural practices. A total of 55 students participated in the visit, accompanied by faculty members Dr. Sanjeev, Dr. Parveen, and Dr. Sonia.

The primary focus of the visit was to study the different breeds of Sahiwal cows, one of the best indigenous cattle breeds known for its high milk production and disease resistance. Students were given detailed information about the breed characteristics, feeding patterns, health management, and the role of Sahiwal cows in improving dairy productivity. In addition to livestock studies, the students also learned about mushroom cultivation techniques. Experts at the site explained the complete process of growing mushrooms from substrate preparation to harvesting including the environmental conditions required for different varieties. The visit proved to be highly educational and beneficial in bridging the gap between classroom learning and real-world agricultural practices. Students actively interacted with experts, asked questions, and noted valuable information for future reference. The department extends its heartfelt thanks to the faculty members for their guidance and to the host at Chandpur for their cooperation and hospitality.

Field Visit Report

Department of Zoology, Government College Bilaspur

Visit to DMR (Directorate of Mushroom Research) Centre, Solan and Biodiversity park, Solan

The Department of Zoology along with Department of Botany, Government College Bilaspur organized an educational field visit to the Directorate of Mushroom Research (DMR) Centre, Solan on 25/02/25. A total of 50 students participated in this enriching academic tour, accompanied by faculty members Prof. Sanjeev, Dr. Sonia, and Prof. Parveen. The purpose of the visit was to provide students with hands-on exposure to the scientific and practical aspects of mushroom cultivation. During the visit, students had the opportunity to observe and learn about the cultivation techniques of various varieties of mushrooms including button mushroom, oyster mushroom, and milky mushroom. Experts at the DMR Centre explained in detail the stages of mushroom production, including spawn preparation, substrate selection and sterilization, environmental conditions required for growth, pest and disease management, as well as harvesting and storage techniques. The interactive session with the scientists and researchers helped the students gain deeper insights into the commercial and nutritional importance of mushrooms.

The visit proved to be highly informative and beneficial, bridging the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical application. It also inspired many students to explore mushroom cultivation as a sustainable and profitable venture.

The Department extends its gratitude to the DMR Centre, Solan for their warm hospitality and valuable guidance. Special thanks are also due to Prof. Sanjeev, Dr. Sonia, and Dr. Parveen for their continuous support and mentorship throughout the visit.

One Day Workshop on Structuring Your Scientific Thesis and Research Papers with LaTeX

Department of Physics
Govt. College Bilaspur
March 12, 2025

On 12th March, 2025, the Physics Department organized a workshop focusing on the methodologies for structuring scientific thesis and research papers, coupled with the practical application of LaTeX, a powerful word processing tool particularly adept at handling the complexities of mathematics and science. Recognizing the importance of both content organization and presentation, this workshop aimed to equip participants with the skills necessary to effectively structure their scholarly work and utilize LaTeX to produce professional and well-formatted documents.

Participants:

The workshop was attended by 24 participants, including Master students from the parent institution. A common goal among the attendees was to gain clarity on the structural elements of scientific writing and to master LaTeX for the creation of their theses and research papers.

Workshop Content and Objectives:

The primary objective of this workshop was to provide participants with a clear understanding of the essential structural components of a scientific thesis and research paper, alongside the practical skills required to implement these structures effectively using LaTeX, especially when dealing with mathematical and scientific content. The key topics covered during the session included:

- Deconstructing the Scientific Thesis and Research Paper: A detailed examination of the typical sections of a scientific thesis (e.g., Introduction, Literature Review, Methodology, Results, Analysis, Discussion, Conclusion, Appendices) and a research paper (e.g., Abstract, Introduction, Methods, Results, Discussion, Conclusion, References), highlighting their specific purposes and interrelationships.
- Developing a Logical Flow and Structure: Strategies for organizing content logically, ensuring a coherent narrative, and effectively presenting complex information. Emphasis was placed on creating a strong argumentative structure in both theses and research papers.
- Utilizing LaTeX for Structural Organization: Practical guidance on using LaTeX commands to define chapters, sections, subsections, and other hierarchical elements to create a well-organized document.
- Mastering Mathematical and Scientific Typesetting with LaTeX: An in-depth session focusing on the nuances of typesetting equations, formulas, symbols, special characters, and units with precision and clarity using LaTeX's math mode and relevant packages (e.g., `amsmath`, `physics`).
- Creating High-Quality Tables and Figures for Theses and Papers: Best practices for designing informative tables and integrating figures seamlessly within the LaTeX document, including proper labeling, captions, and referencing.

- Efficiently Managing Citations and Bibliographies for Academic Work: A comprehensive overview of BibTeX and other bibliography management tools, demonstrating how to create and maintain accurate and consistent citations and reference lists for both theses and research papers.
- Leveraging LaTeX Packages for Thesis and Research Paper Formatting: Exploration of specific LaTeX packages that are particularly useful for formatting theses (e.g., those that handle front matter, table of contents, lists of figures/tables) and research papers (e.g., those that adhere to specific journal styles).
- Tips for Streamlining the Writing and Formatting Process: Sharing efficient workflows, templates for theses and research papers in LaTeX, and strategies for troubleshooting common issues.
- Generating Professional PDF Output for Submission: Best practices for compiling LaTeX documents into high-quality, submission-ready PDF files.

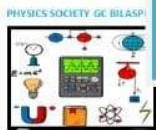

Conclusion:

The workshop on "Structuring Your Scientific Thesis and Research Papers with LaTeX for Mathematics and Science," organized by the Physics Department, successfully addressed the critical need for both strong structural understanding and effective presentation skills in scientific writing. By equipping participants with the knowledge of thesis and research paper organization and the practical mastery of LaTeX, the workshop has empowered them to produce high-quality, professional academic documents.
